

SUMMER CAMP SESSIONS 2017

Led by experienced writer and college professor Beth Harrison, Ph.D.

All Sessions located in Redwood City. Session 1 at Roosevelt School (2223 Vera St.); Session 2 at Taft School (903 10th Ave.)—very limited spaces available. Sessions 3-5 held at the Unitarian Universalist Church (UUFRC), (2124 Brewster Ave.).

Camp is open to 8-14 year olds; participants are grouped with others in the same age and experience range. Each day's workshop includes writing instruction, writing games, time to write and revise and a snack break (snack provided).

Session 1: June 12-16 Flight (full day 9 am - 3 pm) Roosevelt School
Write an adventure about balloon, airplane or space travel. Try different kinds of poems from free verse to rhyme. Take a field trip to Hiller Aviation Museum in San Carlos.

Session 2: June 19 -23 Flight (full day 9 am - 3 pm) Taft School
See description for Session One above.

Session 3: June 26-30 Mystery Writing (morning 9 am - noon) Unitarian Church
Learn how to plant clues and create suspense in developing a mystery plot. Experiment with poem formats including list poems and riddles.

Session 4: July 10-14 Flight (full day 9 am - 3 pm) Unitarian Church
See description for Session One above.

Session 5: July 17-21 Mystery Writing (9 am–noon or 1-4 pm) Unitarian Church
See description for Session Three above. Choose either a morning or afternoon session. No full day program offered.

Why Peninsula Young Writers?

- Camp in operation since 2005.
- Camp Director teaches every session with trained staff to ensure individual attention.
- Tailored instruction for beginners and more experienced writers.
- 35% of participants each year are returning campers!
- Flexible sessions, both half and full day. Themed curriculum creates focus and fun.
- Each session includes a balance of writing instruction, group writing games and practice, a snack, and recess.
- Campers design and publish their own book and share their writing in a "Literary Salon" at the end of each session.
